Do you know a child or teen that is grieving the death of someone close to them? Camp Erin is a free, weekend-long camp for 6-17 year olds. It is a fun, traditional summer camp (fishing, swimming, arts & crafts, etc.) combined with grief education and emotional support. Attendees find community, try new things, and have a great time at camp. Here's what some of our past campers have said about their experiences:

"Camp Erin helped me understand I'm not the only one who is dealing with this. Camp Erin showed me that things will/could get better."
– 15yo camper, 2018

"It helped me know that I'm not alone." – 9yo camper, 2018

"I got to talk about what was going on in my life. The luminary was a way to say goodbye to my father." – 13yo camper, 2018

"People are more willing to support you than you would think."
– 17yo camper, 2018
